

Retail Investor Education Seminar

Wednesday 24 March 2010 | 11.30am - 2pm | Raffles City Convention Centre, Singapore

Discover the value proposition of minerals exploration

Find out the expected returns for minerals sector investment

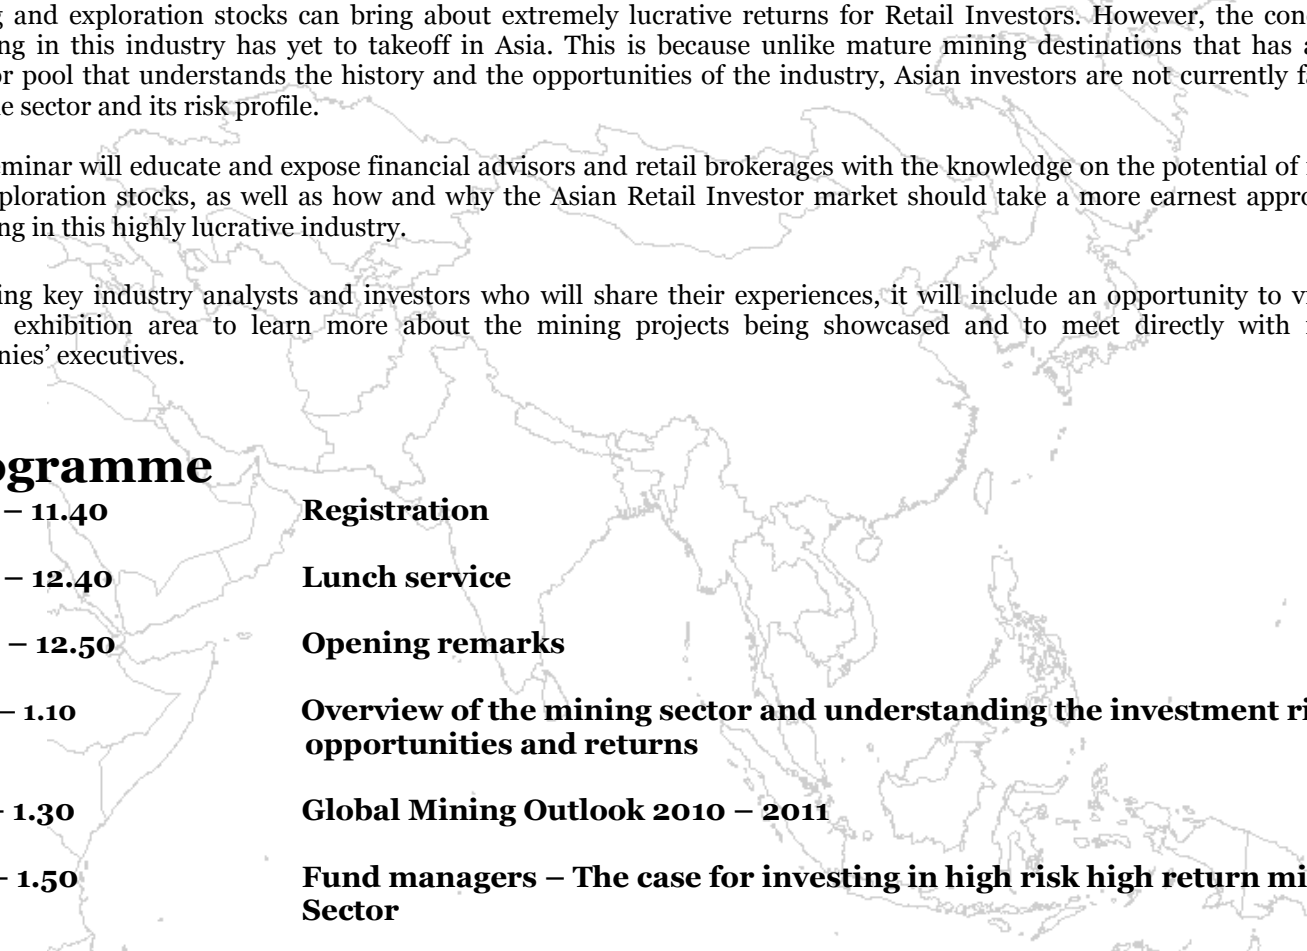

Outline of the Seminar

Mining and exploration stocks can bring about extremely lucrative returns for Retail Investors. However, the concept of investing in this industry has yet to takeoff in Asia. This is because unlike mature mining destinations that has a retail investor pool that understands the history and the opportunities of the industry, Asian investors are not currently familiar with the sector and its risk profile.

This seminar will educate and expose financial advisors and retail brokerages with the knowledge on the potential of mining and exploration stocks, as well as how and why the Asian Retail Investor market should take a more earnest approach to investing in this highly lucrative industry.

Featuring key industry analysts and investors who will share their experiences, it will include an opportunity to visit the event's exhibition area to learn more about the mining projects being showcased and to meet directly with mining companies' executives.
